1.1. Introduction and Objectives

Introducing yourself in a professional environment is a crucial skill in today's job market. Whether you are in a job interview, networking event, or starting a new position, being able to present yourself confidently and clearly can make a great first impression. In this unit, we will learn how to introduce ourselves effectively in different situations, from an informal conversation to a more formal setting.

The unit is structured into several sections, including key vocabulary, useful expressions, strategies for delivering a concise and effective introduction (elevator pitch), as well as the structure and essential elements of a job description. Additionally, we will review fundamental grammar aspects, such as the use of the present simple and present continuous in professional contexts.

By the end of this unit, you will be able to:

- ▶ Objective 1: Write a short text about yourself, including your job, responsibilities, required skills and work environment.
- ▶ Objective 2: Introduce yourself clearly and professionally in English in different workplace situations.
- ▶ Objective 3: Develop a structured and effective elevator pitch.

1.2. Introducing yourself: vocabulary and key expressions

Basic Personal Information

First impression matters! Whether you're meeting a new colleague, introducing yourself in an interview, or in an informal situation, the way you present yourself can influence how others perceive you.

When introducing yourself, you should be able to answer some essential questions:

Question	Example answer
What's your name?	My name is Alex
How old are you?	I'm 20 years old
What do you do?	I'm a student
Where do you live?	I live in London
Where are you from?	I'm from Spain
What do you do for fun?	I like to paint in my free time

Tips for a Good Self-Introduction

- ▶ Be clear and concise – Keep your introduction short and relevant to the situation.
- ▶ Use correct grammar and pronunciation – Speaking confidently will help you make a positive impression.
- ▶ Include an interesting detail – Mentioning a hobby, passion, or unique fact about yourself can make your introduction more engaging.
- ▶ Adapt your introduction – Formal and informal situations require different approaches.

Self-presentations in English

In the In Depth section, you can find a deeper guide on how to present yourself in English. You will see advices, important grammar points, common mistakes and the importance of understanding cultural differences in self-introductions.

Example 1

Formal (Job interview setting)

"Good morning, my name is Alex Smith. I'm 25 years old and I work as a software developer. I currently live in London, but I'm originally from Spain. In my free time, I enjoy coding personal projects and reading about new technologies."

Example 2

Informal (Meeting new people socially)

"Hey! I'm Alex. I'm 20 years old and I'm a university student. I live in London, but I'm from Spain. I love painting and spending time with my friends."

1.3. Elevator pitch

Warm up questions

- ▶ 1. What do you need to do when you need to persuade someone about something?
- ▶ 2. Why is it important to improve your persuasion skills?
- ▶ 3. Do you feel comfortable when presenting yourself to others?
- ▶ 4. What is the hardest part when you have to persuade someone about something?

What is an elevator pitch?

An elevator pitch is a concise way to introduce yourself, present your business ideas, or showcase the products and services you offer. It provides a valuable opportunity to make a strong impression on potential employers, investors, or clients.

While you might not always need to use your elevator pitch immediately, it's essential to have it prepared for situations where you need to deliver a quick, impactful presentation.

In reality, most of us have given an elevator pitch without even realizing it. These short speeches happen in various professional contexts, such as job interviews, networking events, or discussions about new business ventures. Essentially, an elevator pitch is your moment to persuade someone about an idea, a service, a product, or even about yourself.

To visualize it better, think of an elevator pitch as a condensed version of your business proposal or professional introduction—similar to a tweet-length summary of your expertise or project. While you're not restricted to just 140 characters, you should aim to convey your message within 30 seconds, ensuring that you remain clear, concise, and engaging. Ideally, your first contact with someone should not exceed the equivalent of three tweets' worth of information, leaving room for curiosity and follow-up discussion.

Elevator pitch information

In the In Depth section, you can find a very interesting article on how to craft your own elevator pitch and how to deliver it effectively.

Key elements

An elevator pitch should be...

- ▶ Concise: no longer than 60 seconds
- ▶ Clear: use language that everyone understands
- ▶ Powerful: use words that are powerful and strong (descriptive adjectives and interesting verbs!)
- ▶ Visual: create a visual image in your listener's mind
- ▶ Tell a story: explain how you solved a problem or overcame a difficult situation
- ▶ Has a hook: something that snags your listener's interest and makes him/her want to know more

Main steps

When crafting an elevator pitch, think of these 5 main steps to follow:

- ▶ Introduce yourself
- ▶ State the problem

- ▶ Present your solution
- ▶ Share your proposal
- ▶ Include a call to action

Elevator pitch example

In the In Depth section, you can find a very interesting video on examples of how to create your own elevator pitch and common mistakes.

- ▶ How important is body language and tone of voice in delivering an elevator pitch, based on the video examples?
- ▶ What are some common mistakes to avoid when crafting an elevator pitch, as highlighted in the video?

Useful expressions

Here you can find some common expressions to use during your elevator pitch.

STARTING	▶ What I find most interesting about ... Is ... ▶ First of all ... ▶ To begin with ...
ABBREVIATING	▶ In a nutshell, ... ▶ To cut a long story short, ...
ADDITION	▶ What's more... ▶ On top of that... ▶ Besides that... ▶ Apart from that... ▶ Another thing to consider is... ▶ We should not forget about...

FILLERS	▶ You know? ▶ So ... ▶ I mean ... ▶ In other words ...
CONTRAST	▶ On the one hand, ... On the other hand, ... ▶ However, ... ▶ While/Whereas
CONCLUSION	▶ To sum up... ▶ So, in summary, ... ▶ So, as I was saying...

Table 3. Expressions (fillers, contrast, conclusion). Source: author original.

ESTABLISH THE PROBLEM WITH A HOOK	▶ When was the last time you... ▶ Picture this: ▶ Have you ever noticed... ▶ You know how... ▶ Is it me or... ▶ You know that feeling when... ▶ Ever wished you could... ▶ Let's be real here: ▶ Did you know that....
DIFFERENTIATE YOURSELF	▶ For over [x years], we've helped over [X target number] [achieve benefit]. ▶ Backed by/recommended by [known/influential/trusted institution or person].

Elevator pitch

"Hey, I'm Adam. I graduated in a degree in computer science, and I've been working on the IT field for over 10 years. People in the office have difficulties communicating through email/text/chat. Our software is the one place you can communicate with your whole team. It stores all the files and chats between teams of over 5 people. This software is 3x faster than Oracle and we only charge you if you get leads. We provide a 24/7 support engineer for a full year. Here's my card. Call this number and we'll setup a full demo for you, completely free."

Example 2

Elevator pitch

"Hi, my name is Sarah, and I'm a digital marketing strategist with over seven years of experience helping brands grow their online presence. Many companies struggle to stand out in the digital world, losing potential customers due to ineffective marketing strategies. I specialize in creating data-driven campaigns that not only increase brand awareness but also boost customer engagement and sales. For example, I recently helped a retail business increase their online sales by 35% in just six months through targeted social media advertising and SEO optimization.

I'd love to discuss how I can help your company achieve similar results. Would you be open to a quick chat next week?"

In these two examples, we can see the structure we mentioned earlier. A first part where the people introduce themselves, followed by an explanation of the problem and a proposal for solution. They give reasons on why you would benefit from their idea and wrap up by asking a question to take action.

1.4. Job description: structure and key elements

Example 3

Brief job description

I work as a chef. I'm responsible for preparing and cooking meals in a restaurant. It's also my job to plan menus, manage kitchen staff, and ensure that all dishes meet high-quality standards.

For this job, you need special qualifications, such as a culinary degree or professional training in gastronomy. Of course, you need to have a passion for food and cooking. Each ingredient requires specific techniques to bring out the best flavors. You also need to be very organized because working in a kitchen can be stressful, especially during busy hours. And you must be creative because customers always appreciate new and exciting dishes.

I find my job really rewarding. I've always loved cooking, so preparing delicious meals for people feels more like a passion than work. But it can be exhausting, especially when you have to work long shifts or deal with difficult customers. And it can also be a little stressful when the restaurant is full, and orders keep coming in. But on the whole, I love what I do. I can't imagine working in any other field.

1.5. Grammar check

Present simple

PRESENT SIMPLE
We use present simple to talk about: - Routines: I work from Monday to Friday. - Universal facts: The sun rises in the east. - Scheduled future: The train leaves at 5 pm.

Training 1. Self-description

- ▶ Write two brief descriptions about yourself, one in an informal scenario and the other in a formal setting. To help yourself, you can check and answer the questions previously seen in the unit.
- ▶ Before writing, review the essential questions covered in the lesson ("What's your name?", "How old are you?", "What do you do?", "Where do you live?", etc.). Then, choose the setting: formal (job interview, academic setting...) and informal (meeting new friends, social gatherings...).

Solution 1

There is no unique answer for this activity. Therefore, here you can see two examples:

- ▶ Formal: "Good morning, my name is Alex Smith. I'm 25 years old and I work as a software developer. I currently live in London, but I'm originally from Spain. In my free time, I enjoy coding personal projects and reading about new technologies."
- ▶ Informal: "Hey! I'm Alex. I'm 20 years old and I'm a university student. I live in London, but I'm from Spain. I love painting and spending time with my friends."

Training 2. Elevator pitch

- ▶ Write your own elevator pitch. Use the structure, elements and expressions covered in the unit.
- ▶ Before writing, review the key elements and structure of an elevator pitch. Think of how you are going to present yourself, to whom, what problem you want to handle, your initiatives and solutions, and wrap up with a call to action. Make sure you use the expressions covered in the lesson.

Solution 2

There is no unique answer for this activity. Therefore, here you can see an example: Hi, my name is Sarah, and I'm a digital marketing strategist with over seven years of experience helping brands grow their online presence. Many companies struggle to stand out in the digital world, losing potential customers due to ineffective marketing strategies. I specialize in creating data-driven campaigns that not only increase brand awareness but also boost customer engagement and sales. For example, I recently helped a retail business increase their online sales by 35% in just six months through targeted social media advertising and SEO optimization. I'd love to discuss how I can help your company achieve similar results. Would you be open to a quick chat next week?"
